MOTOR CAR REPLACING HORSE-DRAWN VEHICLE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Two fleets brought by the Madison Square automobile show last week are the advent of the unexcelled motor car and the commercial motor vehicle. Both are in line with replacing of the horse-drawn vehicle by the motor propelled car. Every exhibit of any size at the garden included one or more enclosed cars of the Lorraine, Landauette, brougham or other type, and there were several exhibits of commercial vehicles, including heavy trucks, delivery wagons, patrol wagons and a lawn mower.
The motor car has not yet got down in price to a figure that puts it in reach of all. As a matter of fact there has been no reduction in the price, but more value is given for each dollar than ever before.

ELEGANT HUNT BREAKFAST

Mrs. Frederick W. Scott Entertains Many Well Known Society People.

The Unremembered.

Whom I have loved Fortune loved not;
Whom I remember are forgot;
As though they never breathed this air
That to my listening soul sighs, "Where?"

My sighs have on the earth no shrine,
Save in this shattered heart of mine,
Whose trembling walls are sinking fast,
Whose incense hath not long to last.

My prophets none did heed or trust;
My conquerors, conquered, bit the dust.
Not with their latest breath they knew
That deeds of theirs could none undo.

Nor consciousness of might or right
Sustained them in the gathering night,
But in all self-abasement they
From the great battle passed away.

Oh, somewhere be it otherwise,
Than under these o'erclouding skies;
Somewhere, in unimagined ways,
Be scored their triumph and their praise!

Where'er they dwell on earth unknown,
I am content if me they own
Among their number—theirs forgot,
Unsung, unheeded, exalted not.

And if their shining brows—unstarred—
But bend on me their long regard,
And if their silence saith, "Have peace!
From tears for us—or poems, cease!"
—Edith M. Thomas, in February Century.

February.

Then came old February sitting,
In an old, old wagon, for he could not ride;
Drawn of two fishes for the season fitting,
Which through the flood before did softly slide.

And swim away, yet had he by his side
His plough and harness fit to till the ground.
—Spenser.

Brady, the noted antiquarian, says:
"The common emblematic representation of February is a man in a sky-colored dress, bearing in his hand the astronomical sign, Pices." This, doubtless, Spenser had in mind, when he wrote the lines quoted above. To the modern man or woman in Richmond or Virginia, however, February is primarily a month of St. Valentine, whose festival is celebrated February 14th, and of George Washington, the first President of the United States, whose anniversary on February 22d, is observed with respect by the nation at large.

The February flowers are the pink rose, the pink carnation, the maiden hair, and the asparagus fern, pink and green being the Valentine colors. Liberty roses are appropriate floral decoration for Washington's anniversary, when American Beauties are also in vogue. For the last days of February, when thoughts begin to turn springward, primroses and the white and gold daffodils seem most fitting for the pretty February fancies crowning a long and brilliant season.

The Annual Tea.

The annual tea to be given to-morrow afternoon in Lee Camp Hall by the Old Dominion Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be one of the pleasant social events of the day. Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, the president of the Richmond chapter, will be assisted in receiving by the officers of the chapter, by representatives from the various memorial associations, by Mrs. C. E. Borden, representing North Carolina; Mrs. Hugh Miller, South Carolina; Mrs. John Landstreet, representing Tennessee; Mrs. Dwyer, representing Alabama; Mrs. Robert Frazer, representing the Black Horse Chapter, of Warrenton, Va.; by Mrs. Bartlett Roper, president of the Petersburg chapter, with Mrs. Pryor Jones and Mrs. William McKenney. The members of the Petersburg chapter will be out-of-town guests at the tea, to which all yielding Daughters and Confederate organizations in Richmond are cordially invited.

Decorations will be in Confederate colors, red and white, and refreshments will be served by younger members of the chapter. A program of music, including the singing of Confederate songs, will be a feature of the occasion.

Pound Party at Retreat.

The board of managers of the Retreat for the Sick will hold a reception and pound party at the Retreat on Thursday, February 2d, from 12 M. to 10 P. M.

The public is urgently requested to bestow its liberal patronage upon this occasion, thus to enable the managers to continue their far-reaching work of charity. The Retreat is the pioneer hospital in the South. It is opened the entire year for the reception of patients, and since its opening has averaged every year between 3,000 and 4,000 days of free treatment.

Donations of all kinds will be acceptable, and the board of managers will receive visitors, and, if desired show them through the hospital.

Ledford—Perdue.

On Tuesday evening a very pretty home marriage was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Perdue, No. 218 West Twelfth Street, Manchester, when Miss Emma Perdue became the bride of Mr. William Clyde Ledford. The Rev. R. M. Chandler, of Concord, Methodist Episcopal Church, was the officiating minister. The bride was comely attired in champagne colored silk with chiffon trimmings, and wore a white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Grace Perdue, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She was gowned in white silk mull, and had a bouquet of ferns. The ushers were Messrs. W. F. Farinholt and G. B. Gorman. The bride's brother, Mr. D. B. Perdue, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Ledford, who are now on a wedding trip North, and will be at home to their friends early in February, were the recipients of many tokens of kindly remembrance.

Banquet at Waldorf-Astoria.
A Richmond woman who attended the fifteenth annual luncheon of the Grand Veteran Camp of New York, given January 21st, at the Waldorf-Astoria, in recording her impression, writes: "Governor Montague made a most felicitous and thoughtful speech and so did Mr. A. C. Braxton."

Among the other guests whose names Richmond people will note with interest were Lord Fairfax, Mr. R. L. Harrison, Mr. J. W. Alexander, Colonel and Mrs. James R. Branch, Mrs. R. G. Cullin, Hon. and Mrs. John G. Carlisle, Mrs. Basil Gordon and others.

The menu card was very artistic, having a picture of General Robert E. Lee in full uniform above crossed Confederate flags, and the Confederate seal, as a cover design. A splendid menu was served, followed by a most enjoyable social hour.

M., at the Scott house luncheon, those present at the luncheon were: Mr. William Royall, Mrs. William Royall, Mrs. Annie Gray, Misses Lelia Gray, Fannie Ross, Hattie Ross, Mr. George Elliott, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Robert Boykin, Mrs. Bon Palmer, Mr. J.
